

We bridge the gap between cultures

CEEDS

Cambridge Eastern Education and Development Society

“Exchanges and partnerships between Cambridge and China are growing in number and flourishing - spanning research, education, and cultural activities - and I am delighted to have CEEDS’ energetic participation.”

- Professor Alison Richard, former Vice-Chancellor of Cambridge University

CULTURAL EXCHANGES

Five thousand years of Chinese culture has culminated in the manifold art and wisdom of the Chinese people. To carry forward this well-preserved cultural heritage, CEEDS has organised a series of cultural events to promote cultural exchanges between the UK and China.

EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES

As the birthplace of modern sciences, the University of Cambridge has been cradle to great masters and has jointly produced over 80 Nobel Prize Laureates. Based in Cambridge, with its great educational resources, CEEDS strives to promote academic visits and exchanges between the UK and China.

CHARITY AND WELFARE

The University of Cambridge societies are well-known for their tradition of carrying on charitable and welfare activities. Following this tradition, CEEDS has been working extensively with organizations in the UK and China to organise educational and communication events to help schools and students in China.

CAREER EVENTS

CEEDS has extensive experience in organising career talks and events, and has established good relations with many government administrations and companies in China. With our mailing list and other networking resources, we are also helping employers to promote recruitment and business related information to Cambridge students.

ABOUT US

Founded during Cambridge University’s 800th Anniversary, CEEDS is a non-profit society of the University of Cambridge mainly aimed at promoting educational and cultural exchanges between the UK and China and providing personal development opportunities with China-related businesses.

Website: www.cam-ceeds.org

Email: info@cam-ceeds.org

Positions available

Join the society, become an executive member

General officer

Publicity Officer

- description: promoting and reporting society events; liaising with organizations in China and within the university
- requirement: strong communication skill; familiar with editing and graphic software; enthusiastic and passionate

Socialising officer

- description: organising general social events for society members, such as sports events, dining events and so on
- requirement: active and energetic, friendly and good communication skills

Events Officer

Educational Events Officer

- description: organising educational events and volunteering programmes
- requirement: enthusiastic about educational activities; background related to education not essential but highly preferred

Cultural Events Officer

- description: organising cultural events and programmes
- requirement: enthusiastic about Chinese culture and cultural exchanges;

Career Events Officer

- description: organising career talks and events; receiving visits of Chinese officers and guests
- requirement: strong interest in China-related career events; confident in hosting important Chinese officers and guests

IT Officer

- description: society website maintenance and development
- requirement: good IT and editing skill; previous relevant experience preferred

Projects and Positions

By joining this society, we hope everyone can find pleasure through our cause and gain experience to benefit their future development. We have a variety of projects available for the 2012 - 2013 academic year. For more information please feel free to contact us at:

info@cam-ceeds.org

Available Projects in

- Cultural exchange programmes
- Educational forums and activities
- Volunteer teaching and charities
- Career talks and events
- Language exchanges

You are highly welcome to bring your own ideas and projects to us. By joining CEEDS, you can benefit and contribute in every possible way!